

Kintamani Tour

Jeep Sunrise · Natural Hot Spring · Penglipuran · Coffee Plantation

One full day. Ten hours. One unforgettable loop through Bali's volcanic highlands — from the rim of Mount Batur to the bamboo streets of a preserved village.

10 HOURS

750K IDR

2am – Before Dawn: The Mission Starts

Your guide arrives while the island is still asleep. An early pickup is essential – the timing is calibrated to reach the Batur viewpoint before the horizon ignites. The darkness is part of it. That anticipation, riding through quiet highland roads with only headlights and cool mountain air, is the first reward of the day.

Jeep to the Rim: Mount Batur's First Light

A 4x4 Jeep takes you through rough highland terrain — no smooth tarmac here. The trail is part of the experience, all rattles and red dirt, until the viewpoint opens up and Mount Batur fills the frame.

Steam Rising

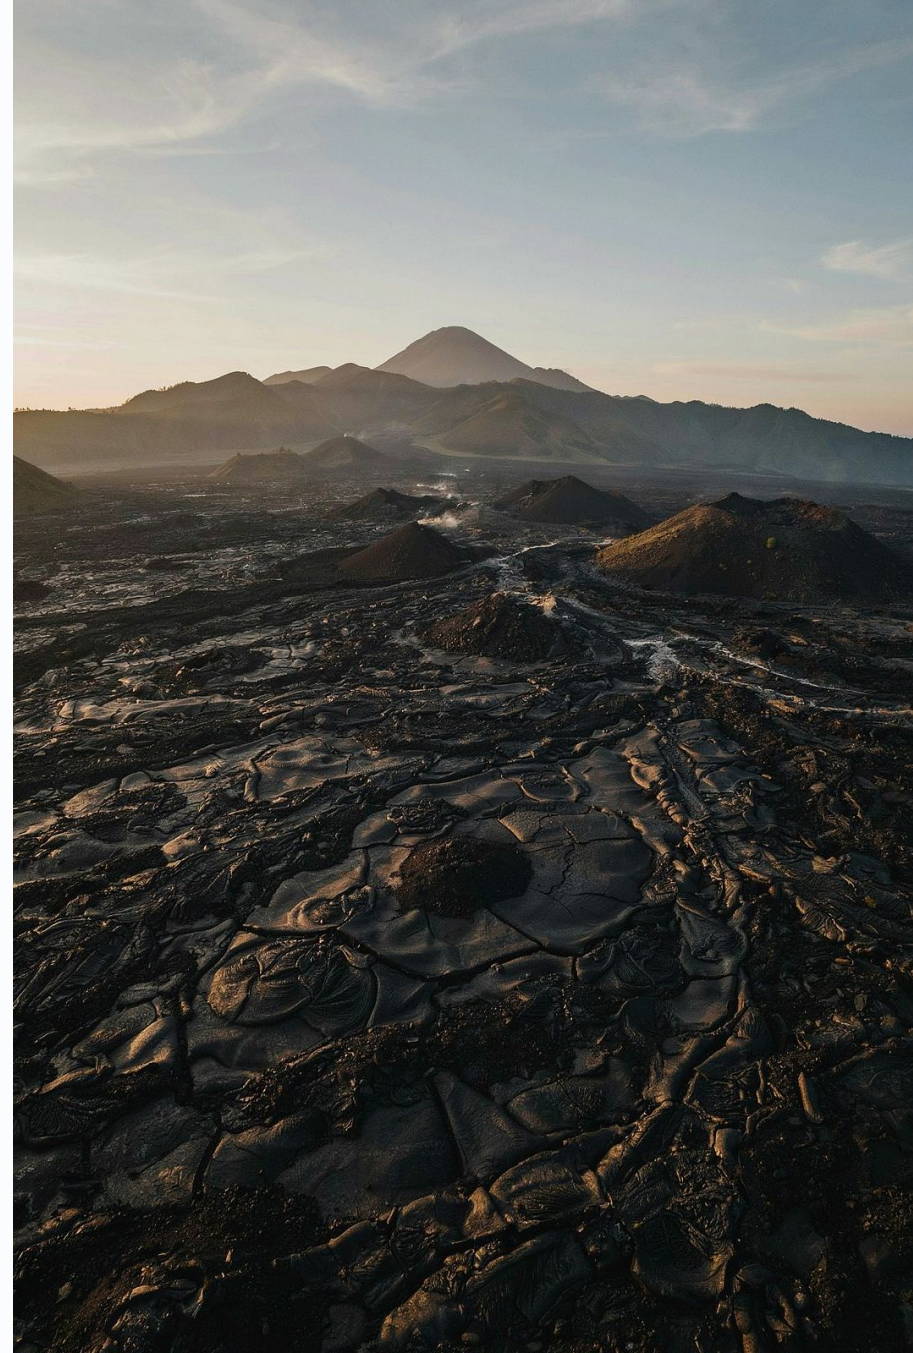

Caldera mist drifts across the crater at first light

Sky on Fire

The horizon shifts through amber, rose, and gold in minutes

Volcanic "Black World": Lava, Sand & Silence

Past the viewpoint, the Jeep rolls through a landscape unlike anything else in Bali. Black lava flows and volcanic sand from historic eruptions stretch across the terrain — raw, alien, and strangely beautiful. Short walks bring you close to the surface without requiring serious fitness. Just good shoes and curiosity.

Breakfast at the Edge of the Sky

Timed perfectly with the sunrise window, a simple breakfast setup awaits at the viewpoint. Watch the light shift minute by minute while you eat — the view does most of the work. It is one of those rare moments where the backdrop makes even a basic meal feel extraordinary.

- ☐ Sunrise colours change fast — have your camera ready before you reach for the food.

Natural Hot Spring Reset

Soak while the volcano watches.

Geothermal Warmth

Naturally heated by volcanic activity beneath the surface — no boiler needed

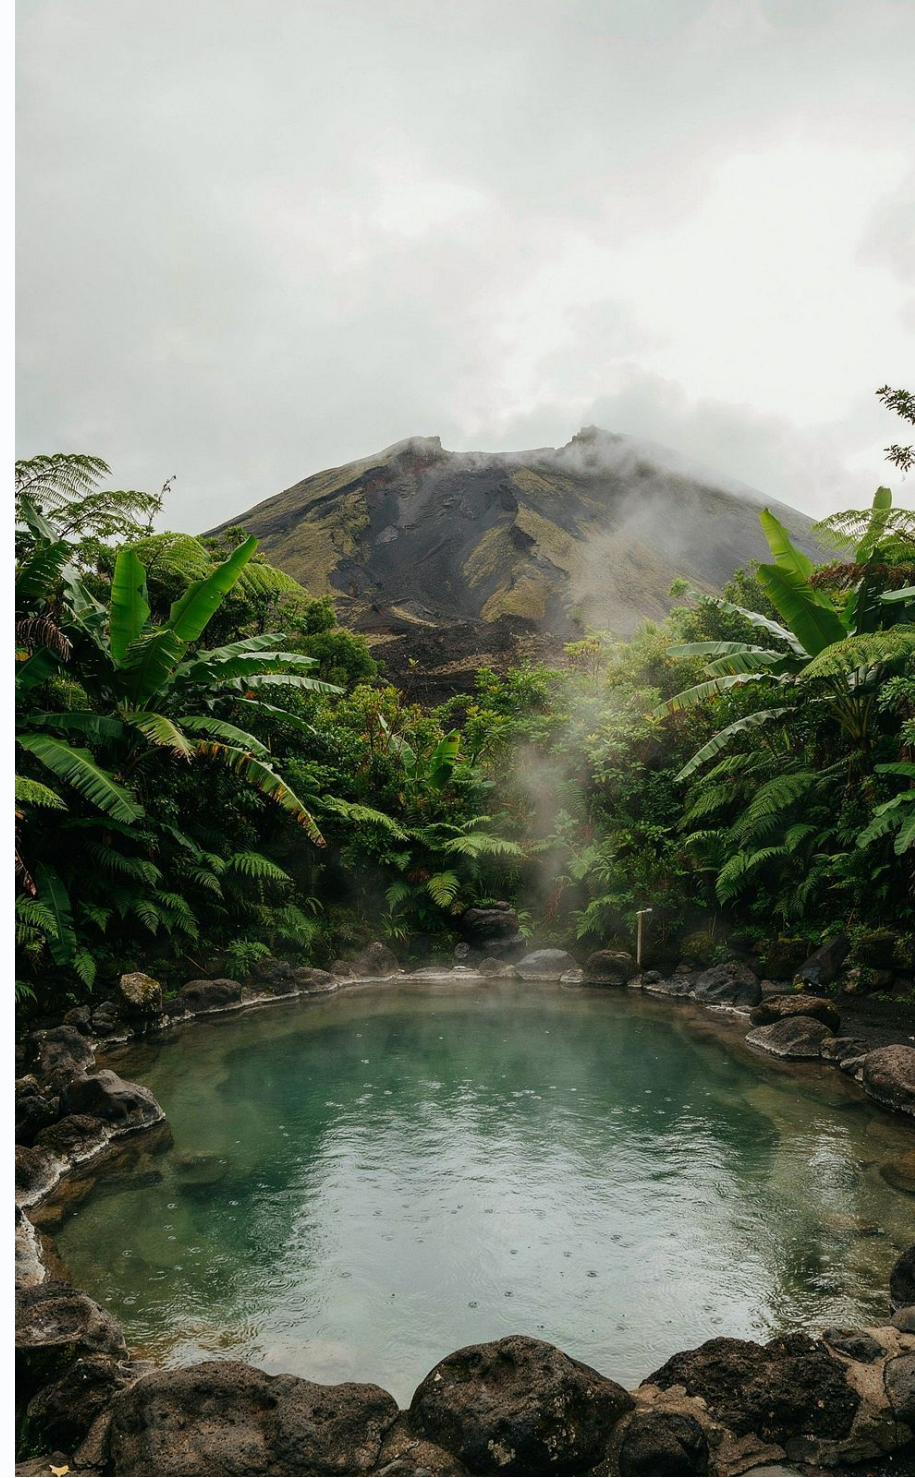

Scenic Setting

Pools positioned with views across the caldera and surrounding highlands

Choose Wisely

Multiple hot spring options in the area — smaller venues offer a quieter experience

Coffee Plantation: From Bean to Brew

Kintamani Coffee Culture

Kintamani's high altitude and volcanic soil produce coffee with a naturally fruity, clean flavour — distinct from Balinese lowland blends. Visit a working plantation to see traditional wet-processing methods up close.

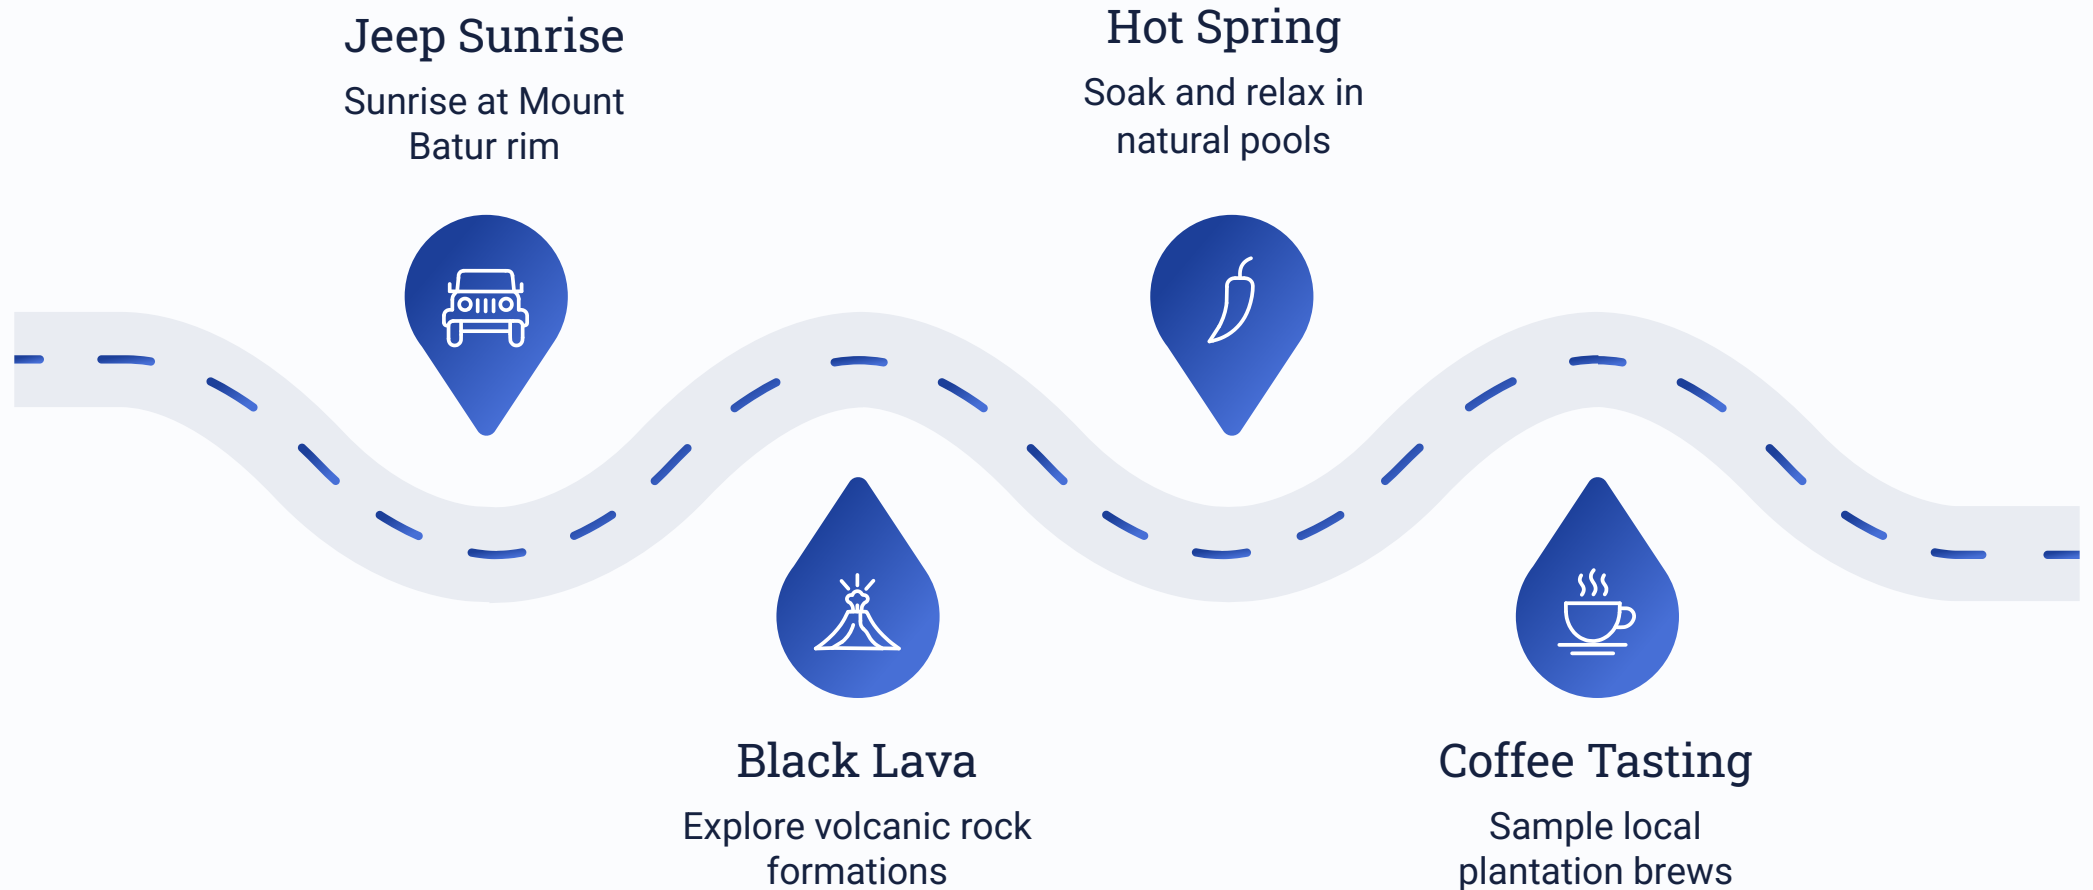

- Watch the full journey from cherry to cup
- Sample a range of local coffees and teas
- Learn what makes Kintamani single-origin special

Penglipuran Village: Clean Streets, Living Tradition

Consistently ranked among the world's cleanest villages, Penglipuran is a place where traditional Balinese customs are not performed for tourists — they are simply lived. Uniform bamboo gates, swept stone lanes, and a community that has actively preserved its architecture and way of life for centuries. A gentle, grounding end to an action-packed morning.

The Full Arc: Culture + Nature in One Day

Each stop flows naturally into the next — adventure giving way to relaxation, then culture. The itinerary is designed so that no single stop feels rushed, and the day builds to a satisfying close at Penglipuran before the return journey home.

750k for 10 Hours: Your Full Kintamani Story

Jeep Sunrise

4x4 ride to Mount Batur's rim at first light

Hot Spring

Geothermal soak with volcanic views

Coffee

Plantation tour and tasting session

Village

Penglipuran — tradition preserved and lived

-  All four experiences in a single 10-hour loop — starting from 750,000 IDR per person.

